After a road
injury or death

When a serious road crash has caused a death or life-changing injury, its impact is devastating and far-reaching. Such a traumatic event happens so unexpectedly. People's lives are disrupted as they try to make sense of what happened and find their way through the many consequences.

Our trained Support Workers are available to support you personally, or as a family or whānau, for as long as you need us. We also provide support for witnesses or discoverers of a road crash. You can call us 24/7 on 0800 842 846 to be connected with a Support Worker.

Our support is completely free and confidential, and available throughout Aotearoa New Zealand.

You can also see our helpful Road Injury or Deaths information at www.victimsupport.org.nz – look under GET SUPPORT.

How we can help

Our Support Workers can support you with:

- someone to listen, talk with, and support you to cope through trauma and loss
- help to understand your rights and make informed choices
- information and help to answer your questions
- help to access local services to suit your situation
- practical support and assistance to deal with things like funeral and coronial processes
- someone to assist and support you at any inquiries, court trials, hearings, and dealing with police or other government agencies.

If English is your second language

If you require support in your first language, Victim Support can use EziSpeak to connect with an interpreter over the phone. Call us on 0800 842 846 and let us know. We will try to match you to a Support Worker who speaks your language.

Our service is
free, personal,
and confidential
